

The Pardee Periodical Journal of Global Affairs publishes original, thought-provoking work of graduate level scholars from across the disciplines with a central focus on global studies. Working in conjunction with faculty advisement, the Editorial Board is comprised of MA candidates at the Frederick S. Pardee School of Global Studies at Boston University. The board works to fulfill the Pardee School's motto of "Advancing Human Progress" by selecting those submissions that offer innovative perspectives on this vibrant and ever-changing field. These efforts reflect the Pardee Periodical's mission: to empower graduate students to inform and enhance the ongoing discourse in global studies by offering them a platform to publish and disseminate their academic work.
